News and Comments Pertaining to the Territory at Large.

The Tucson city council has selected a site 296x240 feet for the Carnegie library.

The valley lands bordering the west side of Tucson are being sought after as building sites.

Settlers are arriving daily in the Colorado valley and an era of unprecedented progress is now at hand.

Wm. Barnes, it is said will shortly retire from the chairmanship of the live stock sanitary board at Phoenix.

Not sufficient names have as yet been placed upon the petition asking the board of supervisors to incorporate Sanford.

The United Verde Copper company expects to open its 150-room hotel at Jerome for guests about the first of February.

While at work in the Congress mine and day last week, a lot of rock fell on Alfred Jackson, crushing the life out of him.

A new court of the Independent Order of Foresters was instituted in Winslow last week. A large charter list was obtained.

A postoffice has been established at the Ray mine, on Mineral creek, to be known as Ray, with Chas. Claberg as postmaster.

The Graham county papers report that mountain lions are destroying young calves in the Graham mountains at an alarming rate.

Jimmie Stevens is said to have abandoned his trip to the Paris exposition. The Apaches will go in charge of another person.

Governor Murphy has commuted the sentence of Eugenio Mata, who is awaiting death in the jail at St. Johns, Apache county, to life imprisonment.

The citizens of Bisbee will present loving cups to Ben and Lewis Williams, who have retired from official positions with the Copper Queen company at Bisbee.

A man named Royce is mysteriously missing from Phoenix. He is about thirty-five years of age and came to Phoenix from Chicago two years ago. He was a member of C company of Col. McCord's regiment.

The entire press of the territory is up in arms against the national lease law, claiming that if enacted such would deal a death blow to the small cattle and sheep raisers.

The Southern Pacific railroad sent out from El Paso recently a train load of cattle containing forty cars. This is said to have been the largest train load of cattle ever hauled over any railroad in the world.

Both Tucson and Nogales want a smelter, and each place is trying to induce J. H. Cohen, of San Francisco, representing the Oil Fuel Saving company of that city to build one.

Governor Murphy has by executive order postponed the date of hanging of George Smiley of Navajo county, who was to be hanged at Holbrook on Friday. The respite is for 30 days.

From the mountains south of town the entire northern country is seen glistening white with snow that fell last Tuesday night, says the Prescott Prospector. The white belt does not reach so far south as the San Francisco peaks, though they themselves are covered with a snowy robe; but it probably reaches some twenty miles southward of the Grand canyon.

A number of forged checks purporting to have been issued by the United Verde Copper company have been discovered in Prescott. The forgeries were neatly executed and might have passed even the bank officials but for the discrepancy between the numbers on them and the numbers of the company's checks. The perpetrators have not been apprehended.

Mrs. Briscoe and Mrs. Downs, two ladies of Winslow, Arizona, certainly have warm hearts and their disposition to do good when the opportunity presents itself. They recently gave a bill for the purpose of raising money to pay off a mortgage on a poor old lad's home. The mortgage was for $100.00. They made $129.50 of the amount at their dance. They propose now to give another ball and expect to raise enough money to pay off the balance of the mortgage. The old lad's name is Mrs. Gale.

Governor Murphy has commuted the sentence of death of Eugenio Mata to life imprisonment. Mata shot and killed a girl named Wall in Apache county. The act seemed to be a deliberate one with murderous intent. Mata claims the shooting was accidental, as he says he did not know the girl was loaded. The hanging of a few fools of this kind, where the result is the taking of human life, would not be amiss, as it might be a warning to others, but of course in law the intent to commit murder is absent.—Prescott Journal-Miner.

Francisco Garcia was recently convicted at Prescott of the murder of a compadre at the model mine, and sentenced to be hanged.

The live stock growers' association composed of cattle and horse raisers throughout the territory, will soon hold an important meeting in Phoenix, says the Gazette.

Rumor has it that Bisbee is soon to have a bank, says the Orb. This would be of great advantage to the business portion of the community, and an accommodation to the public generally. It is said that the promoters of this institution are Bisbee people.

The grand jury of Cochise county recommends that Burt Prover, a constable of Pearce, be removed from office. The officer "shot up" his township and a petition from the citizens caused the grand jury to recommend his dismissal.

A debating club at Tucson has settled the dispute over the Nicaragua canal. The club decided that the government should not put any money in the enterprise. The El Paso Times thinks congress can now proceed to discuss other matters.

Collector of Customs H. K. Chenoweth, with headquarters at Nogales, sent his resignation to the secretary of the treasury, which was accepted, to take effect December 15. W. H. Hoey, of Muncie, Ind., has succeeded Mr. Chenoweth.

Bids were opened at Washington on the 12th instant for a water and sewer system for the Mojave Indian school of Arizona. The bidders were J. Butten, Flagstaff, $8,000; J. B. Cowder, San Francisco, $5,640; Pugh and Gray, Salem, Ore., $7,778.

Buildings continue to go up in all quarters of our town, and soon Bisbee will rank, if her population continues to increase as at present, first in the territory, says the Orb. She is now third in respect to numbers. Just watch us grow and see if our prediction is not correct.

The Graham county papers report that mountain lions are destroying young calves in the Graham mountains at an alarming rate. Frank Neese, who has a ranch at Stockton pass, reports the loss of six calves in one week. A lion hunt is being talked of at Solomonville.

The Tribune warned the people against the Phoenix carnival fake, so they needn't blame us if the few who attended from this county were taken in. It will take that city five years to get over the disgrace of the hog-ghishness and grab-all propensities displayed on that occasion.—Florence Tribune.

Prescott, with her handsomely graded streets, her new water works and her complete sewer system, will soon put on metropolitan airs and be a refined city in appearance as well as in fact. As far as beauty of location counts she, with her pine encircled and granite-girth suburbs, has long been noted as the most beautiful city in Arizona.

The desert land entries made on land in Maricopa county by A. C. Miller, J. D. Whitman, Louis Lyverson, A. R. Blant and Margaret West were cancelled at the Tucson land office in pursuance with instructions received from Washington, because of failure to make the yearly proofs required by law, after being duly notified to do the same.

E. D. Sevrance was out on Oak creek recently, examining the Meeks-Parkinson scheme for the harnessing of the chrysal waters of Page's springs, for the purpose of reporting on the proposition to Los Angeles parties. These springs pour forth 3,500 miners' inches of water continually, and in a distance of seven miles a fall of 250 feet can be obtained. This amount of water, with such a fall, would develop several hundred horse power, and this could be utilized in generating electricity. One of the ideas of the company that is trying to secure control of the water is to generate electricity for general distribution throughout the mining district adjacent to the springs. An immense body of excellent land could be easily irrigated from these springs.—Jerome Hustler.

A Santa Fe dispatch of the 12th instant says, Forest Supervisor M. M. Mulhall, of the Gila Forest reserve, today commenced to drive the squatter's goats and sheep from the Gila forest reserve in accordance with the orders of the interior department. He has gathered a large force of rangers at Cliff, near the boundary of the reserve, and if he meets any forcible opposition will swear in as many deputies as possible, or call upon the small militia force at Fort Bayard. It is not anticipated however that there will be any trouble.

Jessee Dunlap, familiarly known as Three Fingers Jack, is again a free man, having been liberated from custody yesterday. Jack called on the Prospector today and desired that as much publicity as possible be given the announcement that he has served his connection with the Tombstone jail. He was arrested on an old indictment for horse stealing alleged to have been committed eight years ago. Yesterday he was discharged because of lack of sufficient evidence to prosecute. "The fancy part of it," said Three Fingers Jack to the reporter, "I was arrested for stealing my own horse. Wouldn't that jar you?" Jack expects to return to Colorado to join his wife and again take up his business pursuits there.—Tombstone Prospector.

Scott White, secretary of the Cobre Grande Copper company, returned from the Cananea a day or two ago. He informs the Prospector that the company is now working about 400 men, including employees of both mines and smelter; that the smelter of 200 tons capacity is working in a thoroughly satisfactory manner and is running continuously, by its product proving the value of the ores to be all that has been claimed by the most sanguine of those interested. New buildings and improvements of all kinds are being added to the company property and the camp throughout is in a most flourishing condition. This enterprise although inaugurated upon a very extensive scale, has long ago passed the experimental stage and is upon a solid business foundation and under an able and conservative management.—Tombstone Prospector.

A Chicago land and improvement company has acquired 50,000 acres of territorial school land on the Mimbres river, in Grant county, New Mexico, and intends to acquire 50,000 acres more in that section for the purpose of a grand colonization project. The price paid was $3 an acre and the proceeds will go to the educational institutions of the territory. The land bought is fertile, but lacks water to make it fruitful. An immense system of reservoirs and irrigation ditches will be built and a townsite will be laid out on the railroad between Deming and Silver City. The water of the Mimbres will also be stored for irrigation purposes. A resort will be established at the famous Hudson's hot springs. A. R. Burdick and Mr. Spaulding, president of the bicycle trust, made the first purchase. The purchase of the other 50,000 acres is conditional upon the legislature being willing to accept the price the syndicate is willing to pay, the proceeds going to the reservoir fund of the territory.

The Courier reporter talked with an old time Arizona wood chopper and hauler yesterday, who said that the Arizona blue-jay devoted much of its time to forestry, and that these birds had planted thousands of the trees now growing all over Arizona. He says these birds have a habit of burying small seed in the ground with their beaks and that they frequent pinyon trees and bury large numbers of the small pine nuts in the ground many of which sprout and grow into trees. He was walking through the pines with an eastern gentleman a short time ago when one of these birds flew from a tree to the ground, stuck its bill in the earth and quickly flew away. When told what had happened the eastern man was skeptical, but the two went to the spot and with a knife blade dug out a sound pine nut from a depth of about an inch and a half. Thus, it will be seen, that nature has plans of her own for forest perpetuation.—Prescott Courier.

An unsuccessful attempt was made last week to rob Mike Hermann at his road house on Groom creek six miles south of town, says the Prescott Journal-Miner. About 9:30 at night two Mexicans entered the place one with a six-shooter and the other with a murderous looking dagger. Hermann was alone in the front room, at the time, sitting in a chair, and the Mexicans no doubt concluded that he was the only person in the building at the time and would be easy prey for them. The man with the dagger advanced toward him and seized Hermann with his left hand, while he raised the knife in his right hand to strike him a blow with it. Mr. Hermann, who is a veteran of the civil war, and who had not only faced bullets, but had been struck with them, was not to be stampeded as easily as they had imagined. He always carries a six-shooter where he can lay his hand on it conveniently, and as the two men entered the door he sized them up and immediately placed his hand on his six-shooter, and when the man attacked him he drew the weapon. Simultaneously, Ike Chandler, who was in a back room, appeared at the door between the two rooms, and the sight of him and of Mike's gun unnerved the would-be murderers and they fled precipitately. As they left Mr. Hermann fired four or five shots at them, one before they got outside of the building, and as the bullet could not be found anywhere in the building he thinks he hit one of them.
